

General Sales and Support Conditions

1. Price

Prices are invoiced according to a valid pricelist. Prices are EXW (Incoterms). Prices do not include customs fees and delivery charges.

2. Country of origin

All DataApex products are developed, manufactured and shipped from The Czech Republic. Third party's products are clearly marked.

3. Delivery term, transport

Products are shipped within 5 business days after product payment has been received. We most often use DHL as our forwarding agent.

4. Warranty, support

The length of warranty for all DataApex hardware is 3 years. Warranty includes the replacement of broken or inoperative parts but does not cover the replacement of parts, which have been damaged due to user negligence, misuse or mishap. In cases where the equipment used is not manufactured by DataApex, liability is limited to the warranty provided by that manufacturer and is not covered by DataApex.

All registered users are eligible to receive our free of charge online support.

5. Software

Software is provided on a USB media or electronically. A printable version of software manuals (PDF format, English version) are included on each USB installation media. The manuals are also available online in the Downloads section at www.dataapex.com. Printed versions of relevant quick-start manuals are included if goods is shipped physically. Software is available in several languages and language is determined by a bought license (D076).

6. Software License

Each Chromatography Software requires a Hardware Protection Key (dongle) or A/D card for software versions <2.4. A loss of Hardware key (or A/D card for version <2.4) is considered as a loss of the license rights and a new license has to be bought in such case.

A part of a license is a user code that defines a configuration of chromatography software and is unique for each Hardware Protection Key. The Control module or Extension license is valid for all bought Instruments within one Chromatography Software and they are non-transferable to another Chromatography Software license. Chromatography software can be run only when a Hardware Protection Key is present.

7. Supplier's statement

CSW and Clarity Chromatography Software are exclusively developed by DataApex.

8. Payment term

Advanced payment is required for a purchase. Standard payment is generally made by bank transfer, where all bank fees are paid by the purchaser. Every underpayment is considered as a debt. Alternative payment methods must be approved in writing by DataApex. A penalty of 0.4% weekly interest will be charged to parties who are delinquent in their payment of an invoice.
